Entered at the Post Office at Decatur, Ill., as second-class mail matter.

SATURDAY EVENING, DEC. 17, 1881.

EX-Secretary Blaine took formal leave of his late associates at the association meeting yesterday.

For the first time in twenty years or more, James G. Blaine is a private citizen.

The members of the star-route ring have begun to abuse the new attorney general, which is presumptive evidence of his eminent fitness for the place.

The cotton spinners of Fall River and Lowell have demanded a 10 per cent. increase of wages, and fears of a general strike are expressed.

THERE is no love in the heart of the Globe Democrat for James G. Blaine.
It says that he "goes out of the state department under a big cloud of guano dust."

PRESIDENT ARTHUR yesterday nominated Hon. Benjamin Harris Brewster, of Philadelphia, to be attorney general.
Mr. Brewster is one of the most celebrated lawyers in the country, and possesses every qualification necessary for the important position to which he has been appointed.

GUITEAU now claims that he has always been a high-toned Christian man, but if the evidence of the witnesses is to be believed he has been a dead beat, a moral leper, and an unmitigated scoundrel during the whole period of his natural life, and deserves to be hung on the common count.

MR. BEECHER has written a letter to the New York Trifolium on America's burning shame—Charles J. Guiteau, in which he says: "He who is sane enough to organize the elements of a crime and accomplish it, is sane enough to be hanged." So say we all.

THE CHICAGO JOURNAL.

The prospectus of this sterling old paper will be found in our columns today. The Journal, besides being the oldest paper in Chicago, is one of the very best in the land. Enterprising without being sensational, newsy without being slangy, it is a paper that is specially adapted to the family circle.
Read the prospectus, and if you want a Chicago paper subscribe for the Jour- nal.

THE late census of Japan shows a total population of nearly 36,000,000.
The Mikado and his family are shown at the head of the statistics as twenty men and seventeen women. Yedo, of the vastness of which the old geographies used to tell such tales, contains only 957,121 inhabitants. Kyoto approaches it closely with 822,098, and Osaka comes next with 582,668.

TUE Indianapolis Journal strongly urges the appointment of Mr. Hatton, now first assistant postmaster general, as successor to his late chief, Mr.
James, in the postoffice department. It says: "From the little the country has seen of Mr. Hatton's work, we think his appointment would be entirely satisfactory, and would promise good results.
He has indicated the possession of a clear, vigorous, practical, executive mind—such a one as the postoffice department requires. That Mr. Hatton is younger than the custom seems to demand in a chief of a department, is not an insuperable objection. In the history of the world a good many men no older than Mr. Hatton have done brilliant work and left a name to point a moral to older and presumably wiser heads."

A GRANDSON of Daniel Drew, who lives in a $75,000 residence, is now before a court charged with being insane.
The young man is just married, and has had a quarrel with his wife. She makes the charge, and he avers that it is done for the purpose of getting rid of him.
When they served the writ on him they found that he had drawn $45,000 out of the Safe Deposit company, where it had been placed for safe keeping. If they shut him up he does not intend to go dead broke to his fool house.

OMAHA has 160 saloons. The new state law places the license at a thousand dollars, and over a hundred of these drinking places will close. The result will be watched with interest to see what the effect will be upon the morals of the city. The $60,000 thus obtained will defray the whole expense of the police force and leave a considerable sum to be expended on the streets. It is believed that drunkenness will be diminished, and that the effect will be to weed out the low haunts where thieves resort and where the most poisonous liquid is sold. If the experiment succeeds it will go far toward raising the license in other towns of like size.

A fair and festival will be given in the name of the Decatur Rifles on Wednesday evening, Dec. 21st, for the benefit of the African M. E. Church. Various useful and beautiful articles will be voted to popular persons among which will be a Singer sewing machine, a chamber set, a silver casket, a gold headed cane, etc. All are invited to patronize the affair. 7-11d.

Garfield's Distaste for "Conflicts of Men."

Mr. E. V. Smalley contributes to the December Century Magazine a paper on "Characteristics of President Garfield," chiefly based on long and intimate personal acquaintance. The following extract is significant:

"I do not think it is generally known that Garfield rejected overtures in 1872 to be elected to the Senate by the votes of the Democrats combined with those of a number of Republicans from his section of Ohio, who were dissatisfied with the caucus nomination of their party. The reason he gave for his course was that the position would not be an independent one, and that he would be placed under obligations to the Democrats, although they asked no pledges. Three times he declined to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor of Ohio, when he had only to let his name go before the convention to have had the honor conferred to him without a contest. In preferring the House of Representatives to the executive chair at Columbus, he was wise. His place was in the field of ideas, arguments and constructive work, and he would have been restive at any post of duty which limited the activity of his intellect, and held him down to the enforcement of statutes made by other men. In fact, the Presidency was foreign to his tastes, except as it gave him opportunity to impress his ideas upon Congress and the country. A few weeks before he was shot, I heard from his own lips an expression of the distaste which he felt of the business of deciding between the claims of individuals for office. 'I have all my life delighted in conflicts of ideas,' he said, 'but I never cared for conflicts of persons. Now I am obliged to spend almost my whole time in hearing arguments and appeals in behalf of individuals.' He went on to say that, if he failed of success in his new position, he thought it would be because of his want of liking and training for this important part of executive duties.
He found it almost impossible to give his mind to the question whether A, B, C was the best man to be Postmaster at Peoria, or whether D should be turned out of a collectorship to make place for E."

grave.

GUITEAU retorted—I never said I ranked with them, but as a matter of fact think I can.

A number of newspaper slips which witness had read to the prisoner at this interview to show him what were the sentiments of Grant, Conkling and others in regard to his (the prisoner's) crime were then read by the district attorney. When a letter by Gen. Grant was read, in which the writer, speaking of Guiteau, said, "My son tells me he is a dead beat," Guiteau became very angry and shouted—This is what Fred Grant says. He's a nice pill, isn't he, hanging around his father. I should say he is a bigger dead beat than I am.

Another passage was read which spoke of Guiteau's crime as a most audacious act. Guiteau interrupted—And so it was to enter that depot and shoot down the President of the United States, surrounded as he was by all his friends. I have wondered at it a good many times how I ever did it. I thought to myself this morning I would not andertake it again for a million dollars, but was in such a state of mind I could not resist it. I was impelled upon the President by pressure I could not help it.

Ellen C. Grant was called and Guiteau stated: Mrs. Grant is a lady.

No. 200—Stated in his public lecture, delivered in Washington on Wednesday night, that he was satisfied that his client would not live through his trial. If this is correctly reported, Mr. Scoville used strong and decided language. He gave the warning, and knew whereof he spoke." He said that the greatest peril to the prisoner was in his passage from the court-room to the prison van, when some desperate man would stab him and escape without detection. Of all the letters Guiteau receives, according to Scoville, nineteen-twentieths threaten his life. Mr.
Scoville ought to be pretty well informed, and he is said to be a man not given to overstatements. The letters received may account in large part for Guiteau's temerity of entering this woman on the stand unless Corkhill wants to stir up filth. I say it is an outrage on decency for Corkhill to drag this lady in here and her character ripped up as it will be. Corkhill ought to be ashamed of himself. He's worse than an old hog. I appeal to the court to intercept this infamous action of Corkhill's. Arthur is President, and I have a right to demand that he shall put some reputable lawyer in the place of this infamous Corkhill.

To the surprise of every one, but two or three questions were asked the witness in the court room.

Mr. E. B. Pratt at No. 37 N. Church street, in a room adjoining his grocery store, has opened a meat market. All kinds of fresh meats, sausages, etc., always on hand, and as cheap as elsewhere.
Give him eat!

"HE IS SANE."

Say the Experts in the Guiteau Case,

And the Experts will Have to Swing.

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 16.— The Prosecuting Attorney was a little late in reaching the criminal court this morning, and Guiteau improved the opportunity to make one of his little speeches:

"To put in time" (looking over to the vacant seat), he said with a chuckle, "I understand that General Reynolds is sick this morning. I wonder if Corkhill is? I guess they got more than they wanted yesterday. It's about time for Corkhill to get sick and stay sick."

George D. Barnard, Deputy Clerk of the Supreme Court, King's County, N.
Y., took the stand to prove the divorce of Anna J. Guiteau from the prisoner.
The witness presented the order of the court and the order of the Judge for his (witness') attendance here.

Mr. Scoville objected to the papers on the ground that they were not certified by the Clerk of the court, as required by the act of Congress.

The court overruled the objection, and admitted the papers as originals in the case. The papers set forth the granting of an absolute divorce upon the ground of adultery, no answer having been made by the defendant.

Mr. Scoville desired to note an exception to the admission of the evidence.

Guiteau (with impatience)—Oh, what's the use of quibbling over that,
if he failed of success in his new posi-
important part of executive duties.
his mind to the question whether A, B, C was the best man to be Postmaster

General Reynolds was recalled, Guiteau at once broke in petulantly, saying: "I hope you will cut off General Reynolds, and not waste any more time on him. He has told all he knows about this case, and a good deal more."

Mr. Scoville cross examined the witness. Guiteau frequently interrupted, contradicted and insulted the witness; at one time he shouted out: "I would have been hung 100 times in July last but for the national troops, and all through your lying and Corkhill's. I'm going to get even with you both, too."

Witness explained that when he visited Guiteau his trial had not been arranged. President Garfield was still living, and he (witness) had no thought of being subpoenaed as a witness.

"You lie," shouted Guiteau. "You came to my cell as a spy in the employ of the District Attorney."

Gen. Reynolds read from the notes he had taken at his first interview with Guiteau, using the prisoner's words.
He read: If there is a stalwart in the land I am he, Grant, Conkling, Logan and Gov. Cornell are big guns among the stalwarts, and I rank right with them.

Witness retorted—I never said I ranked with them, but as a matter of fact
think I can.
